OVER AT NEWPORT.

Doings of Salemites and Ocean Aristocrats On the Beaches.
Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Guild and son were arrivals at Newport Thursday and are now camped on Nye Brook. Friday morning bright and early the Hon. H. G. was seen on the crest of a real digging his first breakfast.

A large black fish 41 feet long was cast upon the beach half a mile above Beaver Creek, and many campers are availing themselves of a chance to eat whale steak. His oceanic highness is literally shot to pieces by the camera fiends who roam the beach by hundreds.

The heavy rain on Tuesday night and all day Wednesday caused much inconvenience to the numerous camping outfits. Some appreciated a supply of water and some left for the hotels.

Capt Barnes and party stood the storm in fine shape and showed that the Captain had put up many a tent for just such a siege of weather.

John Hood, formerly a Salemite, but now of Albany prairie, is the captain of the beach so far as Albanyites are concerned and as a daring reef fisherman he has few equals.

About 100 campers left Friday morning, only 30 arriving Thursday night. Postmaster Huddleston and family, of Jefferson came in time to catch the rainstorm and got the benefit of a soaking the first night.

Dr. and Mrs. Mott are camped at Nye Brook. They will remain about two weeks. The Mott boys have been hummers on the beach and will put a youthfulness on the doctor's cheeks if he follows them through their daily program.

The schooner Amethyst, an 80-ton vessel high and dry on the beach at Alsea Bay and the owners have abandoned all hope of ever clearing the ship.

A large salmon run is expected this season and thousands can be seen jumping about just outside the bar, only awaiting the rainy season to get in, when they will swarm into the bay as never before. Some fine ones are now being caught by trolling in the bay. Both canneries will run this season and many improvements have been made to facilitate work.

Mrs. J. W. Hanson and son Charles and daughter of Fair Haven, Wash., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Canfield and left today for Eugene to visit Mrs. Hanson's parents, C. W. Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Anderson of Waldo Hills drove in today bringing a load of new potatoes.

D. D. Keeler, V. S., was called out to E. Brunk's near Eola, to attend some sick horses.

Thos. Holverson, the merchant, is rusticated at Ocean Park.

Armin Steiner has returned from an outing at Yaquina Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Schaefer are at McMinnville to visit.

George Townsend of Perrydale was a Salem visitor today.

Chas. A. Murphy went to Dallas today on business.

Dudley Henry of Polk county was in Salem today.

N. Mitty, of Polk county, was in Salem today.

E. Pike of Spring Valley was in Salem today.

C. G. Given drove over to Dallas today.

FROM MEHAMA.

Logan Encampment Closed With a Splendid Program of Speeches and Music.

CAMP LOGAN, MEHAMA, Aug. 12.—The encampment of the Union Veterans' Union for 1899, practically ended this evening, and the closing day was one of great pleasure. The weather was perfect, a clear sunshine with a bracing breeze fanning the graceful foliage along the banks of the Santiam.

The unavoidable uncertainty of having a program Friday afternoon had caused some of the veterans to return to their homes, but those who staid and the visitors who gathered from the surrounding country felt well pleased. At 2 o'clock p. m. Judge Fairbanks, president, called the assemblage to order and opened the exercises in one of his neat, happy speeches. Rev. Tompkins offered an appropriate prayer, after which the Mendelsohn club responded with the words and music of "John Brown's Body" finely rendered.

The address of the occasion was delivered by Frank Davey, of Salem, who reviewed national affairs and the events of a warlike character which have entered into the nation's history from 1850 to the present. Mr. Davey held the audience nearly an hour, receiving frequent hearty applause and arousing a high pitch of enthusiasm.

Mrs. Hallie Parrish-Hinges, Salem's greatest vocalist, came down from her camp on the North Fork and sang in her sweetest style three delightful numbers, after which Rev. Tompkins responded with a short address of fiery patriotism, which brought to a close one of the most enjoyable feasts of the occasion. A rising vote of thanks was given to Mr. Davey for his attendance and his address.

Mr. Davey was accompanied by Mrs. Davey and daughter, Miss Merle, and Mrs. W. M. Davey and daughter Miss Anna, of Iowa.

Our shoe prices as well as everything else are lower than the others. Come and see for yourself. All honest goods. No trade. Everything warranted. Wiggins' Bazaar, 307, Commercial street.

Changed Hands.

The Club Stables yesterday was sold to F. L. Hargrave of Rickreall, who is an old liveryman in Salem. He purchased all the rigs of W. A. White and the two White boys, C. T. and Edward will remain in the employ of Mr. Hargrave, the former acting as day man; while the latter will have charge of the barn as night man.

Pleasant Surprised.

Friday evening at the home of R. C. Hawley, six miles south of Salem, about a dozen friends met to celebrate the return of an Oregon volunteer, Duncan Chickering. The party spent a pleasant evening at music and games, after which refreshments were served when all departed home, having spent a pleasant evening long to be remembered.

Missouri Poultry.

Two hundred thousand live chickens will be shipped from Trenton, Mo., to the Hawaiian islands as fast as they can be bought up. The first car of 500 has been shipped. The poultry brings a high price in Honolulu.

OREGON STATE FAIR

Season Tickets to Be Sold at Reduced Prices.

The success of the State Fair for this year, and its continuance for the future, depends largely on the interest taken in this institution by the citizens of Salem. There is no one who will not admit that it would be a serious stroke if we should lose the benefit of the fair, it brings thousands of people here for ten or twelve days, they leave thousands of dollars in Salem and all who are engaged in business receive a benefit, either directly or indirectly. The premiums paid by the state of Oregon of $5000 is mostly spent in making the exhibits. Those who win premiums don't show for the profit, but to advertise their stock and other exhibits and it costs them more than they receive, so that our business men are the ones who profit by the fair being held here.

Our duty then is clear, to encourage and help this beneficial institution all we can and make it a success. Of course it is understood that Salem Day, will be a big success as it has during the past two years, but the opening day to a large extent indicates or shows what the balance of the week is likely to be, therefore let Salem turn out as generously as possible on Saturday Sept. 16th and give it a good start. The runs for that day will be interesting. The 2:20 pacing race with seven horses entered, The 2:25 trotting race with twelve horses entered and a 3/4 mile running race.

In addition to this will be given a novelty 3/4 mile running race by ordinary horses, race horses barred, and the horses will be rode by the general traveling passenger agents of different railroads, they will be dressed in costumes to advertise their several roads and as fourteen entries have been received it will be one of the most interesting novelties to be seen.

In order to induce the people of Salem to attend every day, the price of season tickets has been placed at an extremely low price. Ladies season ticket $1 for which they can attend eight evening concerts and seven days of fair, and go out and in as often as they wish, and average only 12 1/2 cents per day and evening. Men's season tickets with same privileges $2 which is an average of only 25 cents a day and evening, so there can be no excuse for not selling several thousand season tickets.

Give the fair a good start by buying a season ticket and going to the fair the first day.

Enjoyment in the Mountains.

B. F. Hall of Croston reported at this office this morning, as the best evidence that he was alive and hearty. He and B. S. Bonney, of Woodburn and their families have just returned from a three weeks' outing at Cascade Springs and Fish Lake, and while there drove to the top of the mountains, where they found three feet of snow.

Mr. Hall says the bushes were loaded with black and blue berries, plenty of fish in the lake but the water was too high and cold for good fishing.

Dr. Cathey and E. P. Morcom of the Woodburn camp were the successful hunters and provided both camp with all the venison desired. From Mr. Hall's description, the trip is one to be desired and the water at springs being equal to the best, the invalid would regain his health and all renew their energies.
